From his obituary: Charles William Kinder. One of the pioneer druggists of this city, died at his daughter's house in Auburndale after an illness of about two months. He was 79 years old. Mr. Kinder is best remembered as proprietor of a thriving drug business in Nonantum, which he established over 35 years ago. He retired from business more than 10 years ago. Mr. Kinder secured his professional training at Cambridge University, England, from which institution he was graduated. He afterwards became professor of chemistry there and gave it up to enter business in the United States. His success in chemistry was established early in his career and many of his formulas are used today. He is survived by a wife, two daughters, Mrs Frank Kellen of Auburndale and Mrs M.E. Stephenson of Newton Centre. and two sons. Hadlev C. of
