HOLIDAY GREETINGS from Jaffrey,

I missed the 31+ inches of snow that fell in October—I was in Ireland and read about it in the papers there. In June I was in the UK for an Antarctic event and other activities. Rented another Landmark Trust property there—Field House near Stroud, a week for six. Planning a big Antarctic conference in Jaffrey in June, then out to Calgary for another “African trip” reunion. And off to Ireland and the UK in October. Will be working on a walking tour brochure for Squantum, a Jaffrey village, over this winter. All else pretty much the same.

"I wasn't texting. I was building this ship in a bottle."

"Scotch and toilet water?"

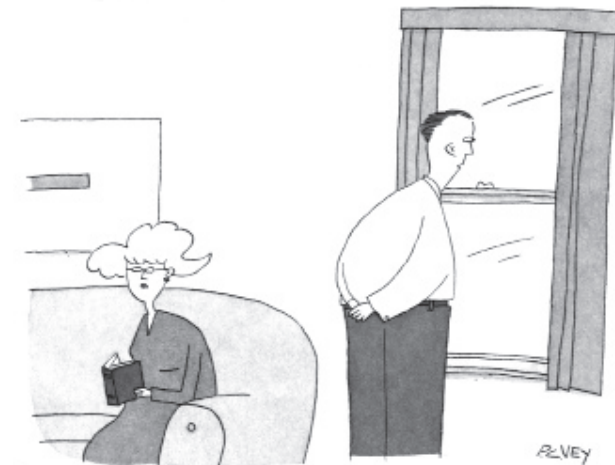

"Not much—just flushing out my arteries."

"It's the Times bulletins every hour on the hour, the Daily News bulletins every hour on the half-hour, and those damn carrier pigeons in between."

"I said, 'your hare looks lovely tonight!'"

"That dead person is still on our lawn."

"Your father was a jackass."
