

CHAPTER XXXII

NECROLOGY

The necrology of Jaffrey persons whose life spans have exceeded man's allotted three score and ten years is a growing list. The septuagenarians and octogenarians have been far too numerous to be listed on these pages, which indicates that longevity in Jaffrey is a normal occurrence. The town has a healthful climate and an unharried atmosphere, far enough removed from the turmoil of metropolitan areas as to be somewhat reminiscent of the halcyon days of earlier New England life. The following list of those who came within ten years of rounding out a full century of life is continued from page 720 of Volume I.
