SOUTHEAST ASIA — FRINGES OF THE BAMBOO CURTAIN

Our member, Joel A. Goldthwait, has recently returned from the Island of Bali, and several Southeast Asian countries. In Thailand, he took pictures of the beautiful temples in Bangkok. He also went to Cambodia to see the ruins of the ancient Kymer civilization at Angkor. He will tell us of the huge temple of Angkor Wat. He then travelled to Hong Kong and nearby Macao for a look at the "Bamboo Curtain" — dividing line between the Free World and Red China.

As we well remember from his excellent illustrated talk last November on Spain and Portugal, Mr. Goldthwait takes exceptionally good colored pictures and he will have slides of this recent trip to show us.

Please reserve the following future meeting dates: November 14th, December 12th, January 9th, 1962, February 13th, March 13th, April 17th, and May 15th.
